Experience

Project Manager | Kordia

2021 to 2023

I managed and delivered a range of projects for Kordia across software applications, infrastructure, networking, telecommunications, cloud, and security domains, along with productisation projects. A highlight was successfully delivering an all-of-business technology separation project for a client that included products from across Kordia's technology stack and several other vendors in different time zones. My role involved regular engagement with the executive team and CEO as key stakeholders.

Project Manager | Fujifilm

2020 to 2021

From November 2020 I held an internal facing project manager role with Fujifilm.

Key projects include Agile based development of an app for the consultant team, and a project to enhance the in-house CRM which required work across many areas of the organisation such as Finance, Legal, Marketing, and Sales.

Fujifilm requires adherence to high project management standards for documentation and reporting, all of which is subject to external auditing.

Project Manager | Vodafone/One NZ

2018 to 2020

As Project Manager, I delivered projects of increasing complexity, honing my technical project management skills across a variety of projects including telecommunications, networking, and security.

I achieved high-performance ratings in 2018/19/20 and was identified as 'Vodafone top-talent' in 2018 and again in 2020.

Project Coordinator | Vodafone/One NZ

2016 to 2018

Joining the project practice at Vodafone, I supported a large government account. My duties included tracking financials, chairing account meetings, raising purchase orders, and developing programme reporting. My role quickly evolved to include managing projects end-to-end within the first year as a coordinator.

Enterprise Provisioning | Vodafone/One NZ

2014 to 2016

My time at Vodafone began as an Enterprise Provisioning Specialist, here, I worked with enterprise customers to coordinate delivery of services across a range of voice and data products. I worked on small projects and got my start in project management during this time. I engaged daily with customers, technicians, IT personnel, account managers, international customers, and various other teams within Vodafone.
